FEET EXPOSED TO BE KISSED.

To Day, To Morrow and Saturday People of Rome and of All Nations May Pay Their Last Farewells.

Rome, July 22.-To-night the body of Leo XIII lies in state in the basilica of St. Peter's, Beginning to-morrow at sun rise the people of Rome and those of all nations now in the Eternal City will be admitted to pay their last farewell. Opportunity for this selemn tribute will end Saturday.

Until 5 o'clock this afternoon the remains of the dead Pope lay in the throneroom of the Vatican, where the leaders of the diplomatic, clerical and civil world were al-lewed to pass the bier. The ceremonial tonight, when the body was conveyed from the throneroom to St. Peter's, was one of the most striking of all the obsequies. During the day the Congregation of Cardinals met and decided to hold the conclave under the identical regulations which obtained at the conclave which elected Leo. Doctor Laponi, in the course of the day presented to Cardinal Orelia a report of the autopsy, which was held, which showed that there was no sign of cancer in the Pope's body.

The fence extends directly across the colonnade, and in it are two narrow entrances which will give ready means of controlling the ingress and egress of the throngs.

At 8 o'clock this evening all was in readiness to take the body of the Pope from the Vatican to the basilica of St. Peter's.

The dead Pontiff was now clad in all the pomp of his holy office. About him had been placed the sacerdotal robes, used only when he celebrated a grand mass. The vestments were those which he wore for the last time in life in the hall of the consistory, when he confirmed the appointments of Archbishop Farley of New York and Quigly of Chicago, June 25 last. The air was heavy with incense from the censor's swinging constantly beside the body. The Franciscan penitentiaries still came to a standstill. There the Cardinals who had been waiting in the hall of the consistory, took the places immediately be-hind the nephews. Their scarlet had been put aside for the violet robes, which are only worn when princes of the church are in mourning.

Mgr. Carcani, the canon of St. Peters, solemnly sprinkled holy water over Leo's body and pronounced absolution. As it was borne across the threshold the cathedral choir, still singing, took the lead of the now lengthy procession. The intense silence which prevaled was broken only by the chanting which echoed and re-echoed from the huge dome and deserted sisies of the chapels as the body was borne down the nave to the chapel of the sacrament. There candles burned brightly.

In this Chapelle Artiente the body was reverently stretched behind the from gates and two members of the Noble Guard took up positions on either side of the bier. The procession then reformed and returned to the Vatican, leaving the body of Leo XIII in the greatest church in the wold, alone, except for the faithful guard and pennen-tiaries, whose prayers could be heard in the immediate vicinity of the chapel of the
